AT THIS POINT, HUH.
.....
YES, AT THIS POINT.

And there we have the end of volume 4 of Tonari no Kashiwagi-san. However, while it may be the end of volume 4, it is not the end of our releases for the series. Katsudon, an admin from the scanlation group Japanzai, is providing us with magazine raws of the series, and only a few hours after the release of chapter 27, he obtained the raws of the latest chapter, 31.

As this is our first complete volume release of the series, and 11th release (though 11th isn't really a milestone...), I'd like to give some thanks.

Thony, for getting this joint project between us and Twin Dragons no Fansub together. Without him posting coincidentally at the same time I did about picking this series up, we wouldn't have ever been able to do this series.

Elcausa, for buying both volumes 3 and 4 and giving us crazy high quality scans of those volumes. If not for him buying the volumes, we would have never seen another release of this great series. At least, not for a very long time.

Prozess, for his crazy fast translating speed. If not for that, there's no way we would've been able to release so many chapters this past week, so quickly.

Darkhellsing, for cleaning and redrawing almost as fast as Prozess translated, and with just as great quality.

Katsudon, for providing the awesome color pages for this release, as well as the raws for future releases. The tankobon version of this chapter did not have color pages, so without him having magazine raws, we would not have been able to release the first chapter ever of this series with color pages.

If you want to thank anyone, thank them.

And lastly, the readers, for putting up with the justified watermarks, even if they did take away from the complete moe that is Kotone Kashiwagi, and this series. I hope everyone will continue to read this series, and spread the word about it to others, that do not already read it. I also hope that everyone will support the mangaka of this great series, and buy the tankobons of Tonari no Kashiwagi-san, like I will be.

On a final note, I will be uploading Stubbornone's releases of the series to Torako, our IRC bot for download, as well as a batch for each volume, and a batch of all 28 chapters.
